Plundering Visitors Attacked By Homeless

LORAIN, Ohio, July 1.—Lorain buried its dead privately today, the 74 known victims of the devastating storm of Saturday evening, while downtown in the ruined business section of the city khaki-clad troops moved about.
Where the State theatre had stood a light steam shovel puffed as it scooped at the debris where more bodies may be.

Marauding and rioting broke out today in what is known as the Colorado avenue section of the city.

KLAN SHOW TO END WEDNESDAY

Social Events to Mark Closing Days of 'Awakening'

With but two more performances to be given by Jimmie Hall's mammoth cast of 4000 people, in the "Awakening," literally hundreds of people are being turned away at the box office daily when told nothing but standing room is now available and this limited.
Indications are the show, if allowed to continue in accordance with box office demands, would run at least another week. Because of other engagements and the long run already made here Hull will close the performance Wednesday night.
Luncheon for cast.
Tonight the entire cast will go to Fuller's cafe after the performance and enjoy an informal luncheon.
Thursday afternoon the cast will be the guests of Hull at a swimming party at Gates beach. The main entertainment event for the 4000 actors who made the show the great success it has will be at the Plaza hotel Thursday evening.
All male members of the cast will be attired in overalls for this occasion while the women will wear bathing dresses. These rules of haberdashery will be strictly adhered to, according to those in charge.
A "weeking" committee of 12 husky men will be at the door to check the attire of any cast members failing to come in the orthodox garb prescribed for the evening.
The show, now a historical success here, goes over every night with greatest plaudits and enthusiasm from the audience. The cast is now a great group of seasoned troupers.

Demo Deadlock Nearing Break

CONVICT 12 IN WHISKY FRAUD

Canada, Hamilton Among Others Found Guilty

2 OF 14 FREED

Sentence Not Yet Passed by Federal Court

Twelve convictions climaxed one of the most sensational liquor cases since the Eighteenth amendment passed and which had a Port Arthur and Sabine Pass setting according to a wire received Monday by A. A. Gaster from federal court officials at Galveston saying a jury verdict had been returned in the famous "Island Home" case.
Of 14 on trial, two were acquitted, R. D. Thompson and Tom Cobb, according to Gaster. Those before the court and receiving convictions were Ray Canada, Arch Hamilton, W. H. Farrell, Jack Adams, James Dyson and James Miller according to information received here by Gaster, he said. Those not before the court, having jumped bond or never being apprehended, were Ben Granger, Antonio Morales, Charles Bowden and Ullier Bowden, Gaster said.
The 14 were charged also with bringing in goods without paying import duty, violating custom laws without registering vessels and other coastal federal law encroachments. Gaster was instrumental in working up the Port Arthur end of the case and giving evidence used throughout the trial.

MAY PROTEST FILL OF BEACH

O. S. Dredge May Pump on Lake Shoreline, Claim

What may develop into a concerted movement protesting against pumping of mud from the canal in the federal dredging program into Gates beach was in the offing today.
In the course of a few weeks the dredge will have reached that phase of their work placing it in dredging operations, according to Gaster, with the plan said to be to take the earth excavated in deepening and widening the canal and dump it over the canal bank. This, bathers claim, will ruin the resort for bathing purposes, since the mud will cover the present sandy bottom and cloud the waters.
It was understood today that the Chamber of Commerce directors may consider the matter, and that a protest also would be voiced before the city commission in hopes that the beach, visited by hundreds of people during the hot summer months, may be left intact and the excavated mud deposited elsewhere.

Applicants to Exam For City Clerk Post Here Dwindle to One

Flivver Hits Standing Water, Parisian Attire Is Ruined by Splash

HE WORE a fluffly creation which might have hailed from Paris.
Glossing silk encased delicate ankles, white kid quarters, dainty feet.
A Japanese parol was held at a swivel angle over her head.
She stepped deftly off the curb of the First National bank corner to cross the intersection of Austin avenue. A flivver tooted commanding for the corner. The young lady passed, the flivver's wheels caught the young lady caused by a man in the pavement at the corner and a perfect picture of feminine sartorial pulchritude was ruined.
The flivver driver, unaware of the disaster he unwittingly had wrought, sped on leaving a plaffing picture of beauty in distress.
Standing water on the corner, unable to run up hill, has no place to go and must either vanish through evaporation or through passers by enacting the role of sponge.

Nothing Apparently in Regulation to Prevent Negroes Taking Exams But None Apply

Applicants for examination for appointment under civil service examination divided to one today from a field of three yesterday which had increased to four this morning.
Jesse C. Hamilton, assistant city clerk this afternoon started taking the written examination at Port Arthur College after the hour of civil service examinations, following on his session this morning, appointed David Latham of Port Arthur College to take personal charge of the examination.
This examination it was expected will last this afternoon and all of Wednesday.

Lack of specific regulations in function of the civil service board brought about a unique situation today when it was learned that there apparently was nothing to prohibit negroes male or female, or citizens of foreign nations from taking the civil service examination for city clerk.

What the civil service board would have done in such a quandary had such "eligibles" appeared gave rise to some speculation among its personnel today. It was understood.
Next up in the discharge of City Clerk Miles by city council subsequent to which the examination today being held, was to take place tomorrow date set for hearing of an injunction sought by Judge Campbell in 9th district court in favor of Miles.
Because of Miles' illness at the hospital, it was believed that the hearing will be postponed for two or three weeks, when it is believed Miles will be able to leave the hospital.
J. Y. Wistner, in his capacity as city clerk of Port Arthur, since the city is a defendant in the case, will represent Port Arthur's interests.

JUNE BUILDING PERMITS GAIN

Reach $116,781 as Compared With May $96,000
A gain of $20,000 in building permits for June is revealed in the official report of Building Inspector Charles Hurdy which shows the total for June as $116,781 as compared to $96,000 for May.
A total of 129 permits for all kinds of building and repairs was let for June, 26 being for residences. The greatest majority of the permits was for repairs, 123 being issued. The field with more than $25,000 of the total being for new structures. Two residences above were given permits which showed $25,000.
Permits for business houses were small as compared to the residence permits, two business buildings totaling $10,700 and a church $3,000 being the total.
The gain in residence permits is caused to decreased rectify activity and the many new additions being completed in the suburbs. The June record is considered excellent by the building inspector as the first summer month is never considered a big building over, he said.

SPLIT EXPECTED IN LEAD RANKS

Smith Forces Seek to Show McAdoo Blocked

M'ADOO OPTIMISTIC

Managers Still Claim He Has Votes in the 'Hole'

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, July 1.—An all-day session of constant balloting before the maximum strength of William G. McAdoo and Governor Al Smith is reached, thus covering the democratic convention that is deadlocked, and opening the way for "breaks" was in prospect today after the twenty-fourth ballot had been completed without a nomination.

Leaders Deadlocked
McAdoo's forces were sticking fast, and his managers had enough votes left in the hole to enable him to show a majority before the day is over according to their claims.
The aim of the Smith managers is to show a one-third vote, thus convincing McAdoo that they have him blocked.
Two more favorite sons went by the boards on the first ballot today when New Hampshire dropped Governor Brown for whom they voted through out yesterday and gave Smith 4, McAdoo 3 and Walsh 1. Mississippi left Pat Harrison and switched its 27 votes to McAdoo. Arkansas, who had not yet voted, was expected to switch to McAdoo from Robinson.

The Iowa delegation, described today as very restless. There were several Smith votes in the delegation but the solid delegation strength went to McAdoo under the unit rule. On later ballots today there will likely be demands for a poll of the Iowa delegation.
The Smith vote of 305 1-2 on the 16th ballot this morning was identical with the final or 15th ballot last night. McAdoo's 435 of today is just one less than he received on the 12th.

West Virginia Man Is Given 129 Votes In 23rd Ballot Cast

Smith Forces Standing Firm With 307 1/2; Californian's Backers Tightening Up As 'Free Ride' Gets Underway for Davis

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, July 1.—Real developments were in the making as balloting in the democratic convention proceeded this afternoon.

After polling 122 votes on the 20th ballot, thus dashing out from the general group of dark horses, J. W. Davis of West Virginia increased this on the 23rd ballot to 129 1-2, and was becoming a real factor in the convention. Both McAdoo and Smith were losing ground. The New York governor stood 308. Despite the fact that Nebraska dropped Chas. V. Bryan, its favorite, and gave enough votes to McAdoo to make him a gain of seven from this state, the Californian also lost ground and polled only 439.

Davis picked up four and a half votes over his previous high on the 22nd ballot and went to 129 1-2. Smith and McAdoo were practically unchanged, polling 308 and 438 1-2 respectively.

Starting with 31 votes on the first ballot yesterday, Davis has shown small consistent gains through every ballot. He started the day with 30 votes on the 16th ballot. On the 20th Missouri passed, caused and threw the delegations entire 36 votes to Davis. This was not only a big boost for the West Virginian but it meant that McAdoo had definitely lost hold on that states ballot.
While Davis was growing, the fight between McAdoo and Smith was continuing through ballot after ballot with Smith losing slightly, but McAdoo falling off. The Californian started off with 418 votes. The Missouri delegation, which was in the minority, was still voting under the unit rule and after the 20th ballot Judge Rockwell was making a desperate effort to swing them back to McAdoo again.

The switch came after Mrs. R. E. Oldfather of St. Louis had served notice on the leaders she would demand an open poll of the delegation on every roll call.
"We've got to break this unit from McAdoo," she declared.
When the vote was announced, Mrs. R. L. Hughes, challenged its accuracy, thus automatically forcing an open poll of the delegation to place each vote on record before the convention and to ascertain if Davis really had his claimed 22 1-2 votes in it.
This caused more confusion in the delegation since several of the delegates had authorized the chairman to vote them with the candidate having a majority.
McAdoo leaders made a frantic effort to move the delegation.

MYSTERY SHOOTING IS STILL A MYSTERY

Shots bursting forth in the bathroom of a rooming house last night around the neighborhood around the 500 block in Eighth street and a heavy call by police officers to a negro servant house revealed a light burning, the house in disorderly condition, but no combatants or bullet victims, they said.

Alice Hayes, negress, who testified she owned the house where the shots were alleged to have come from, was in police court this morning. She would tell nothing as to why the lights were left burning in her house. She said she was in Beaumont at the time. Other negroes were placed on the stand but steadfastly refused to claim any knowledge of the shooting.
The Hayes woman was fined $50 for vagrancy by Judge Dwyer but the mysterious shooting remained still a mystery.

HOPE LOOMS FOR MAIL EXTENSION

P. O. Inspector to Consider Model Phase, Report

Port Arthur will be visited by an official inspector of the postmaster general's department who will make recommendations regarding this city's ability to maintain additional free mail delivery service, probably in July, Postmaster S. I. Dunn announced this morning on returning from a two weeks' vacation.

Passage by the city council of an ordinance appropriating a sum to install street markers has resulted since Port Arthur was last inspected by the postoffice department. This will be of great aid in securing needed free mail delivery service from the government, Postmaster Dunn believes.

"I am hoping the inspector's report will be favorable and allow us the service we need. Passage of the street marking appropriation will be a big factor and favorable, I believe," the postmaster said today.

The inspector is now at Pittsburgh, Pa., and may come to Port Arthur, next, according to Postmaster Dunn.

BATHING SUIT AND NEGRO DISAPPEAR

Keep an eye on your bathing suit, even if it is hanging on your own clothes line in your own back yard, is the advice of a Fifth street woman.
The woman telephoned police a negro had delivered a load of wood. "I went into the house after some money and when I came back he and my bathing suit both were gone," she said.

TAGLESS DOGS TO LEAD: REAL DOG'S LIFE NOW

Port Arthur dogs will be leading a life for the next few weeks until it will become extremely passive for a member of the canine tribe to make an appearance on the streets without the decoration of an official tag on the collar.

Said ornamental tag may be purchased from the city at a price ranging from $3 to $5, depending upon whether the dog is male or female.

"We have just about a thousand too many dogs running around in Port Arthur," said Mayor Logan this morning as he declared three dog catchers, equipped with a pair of pistols, would be on the job from early until late curtailing the collective liberty of all dogs without tags.

Special accommodations to take care of the expected large number of guests are being made at the city pound, in the rear of the electric light plant, where the dogs will be confined for a few days before being sent to the happy hunting grounds.

New Street Sweeper To Be Here in 60 Days

Every paved street in Port Arthur will be swept as clean as your dining room table every night as soon as the city's new motor street sweeper arrives, according to J. O. Herpin, city engineer.

The sweeper, contract for which was let yesterday, will be shipped from New York and is expected here within 60 days. Price is $4,390.

A sweeper of the same make, Foster-Childs, was bought by the city last year, but was never accepted, Herpin says. When the operator sent out by the company tried to run a four-inch pipe through the sweeper, the city decided it didn't care for what was left of the sweeper.

ORL RACERS ENTERED

Mile Course Offers Thrills For Big Crowds

By L. L. ENGELKING
FIVE PRIZES, ranging from $800 to $50 and totalling $2000, will be offered in the speedy 50-mile race to be held Friday afternoon over a one-mile course on McFadden's beach, as part of a Fourth of July celebration. This was decided upon last night by the beach association at Beaumont, when it was announced as well that fast entries had been received from New Orleans and from Kansas City.

The new entries are being made by Antonio Bazzani of New Orleans, driving his Fiat Special, and by Roemer of Kansas City, who will be driving a Roemer special. William Manning of Beaumont has been selected as the official starter. By tonight a complete list of entries will be known.

While there will be plenty of excitement on the beach Friday, the shortness of the course—only one mile—will prevent the entry of a large number of cars. Not more than eight cars will be allowed to race, and it is assumed that there will be at least six cars running for a shot at the heavy money. With more cars entered, the course would be a constant jam filled with extra hazards because of the turn of direction every mile. With one-way circular course, this danger would be absent.

Racing will not be the only attraction, for a fish fry is scheduled at noon, and dancing will continue from early afternoon until late at night. The automobile race is slated to begin at 4:30.

Final work of smoothing off the course will be done the day before the race, and barrels fastened at the ends of the mile course as pilots for the racing cars to turn about. The feature of making the turns in the narrow space at a goodly speed promises to be the main thrill of the afternoon.

Double Thrill Promised.
Generally pure speed, as shown in the circular track, is all offered in the racing game, but Friday's affair will offer a double attraction. There will be a sudden slowing down at the ends of the course, and a skidding as the cars grip around the barrel, perhaps a tire thrown off now and then, followed by a renewed roar of the power engines as the cars tear loose again at breakneck speed to the other end of the course.

Beach racing has always been a popular sport. The fastest time ever made in automobile racing was made a few years ago over the Daytona, Florida beach, and not so many years ago Galveston beach was the mecca of automobile racers over the entire country.

Do you know Baseball?

QUESTIONS
1. When two players collide in going after a batted ball and suffer injury, when is the proper time for the umpire to suspend play?—W. B.
2. If after two strikes have been pitched, the team at bat discovers the mistake, can the proper batsman be substituted?—P. D.
3. If with two out, a base runner is hit by a batted ball which returns the side, does the batsman receive credit for a hit?—E. B.

ANSWERS
1. Time can not be called until all chances for a play have ceased, and the pitcher stands on the rubber with the ball in his possession.
2. The proper batsman can be substituted when the mistake is discovered. He simply takes the count that was on the improper batter.
3. The batter always receives credit for a hit on such a play, no matter what the status of the game may be.

BOILS KEPT HIM OUT
Johnny Farrell's failure to crash into the British open golf championship attributed to a flock of boils which cropped out on his hands. It was almost impossible for Farrell to hold a club.

VILLA SMART BOXER
Bud Taylor, mid-western bantamweight, says Pancho Villa, flyweight champion, is the smartest boxer he ever faced. "Villa is always trying to outflank you and usually he does," says Taylor.

CALOMEL IS A DANGEROUS DRUG

Next Dose May Salivate You, Loosen Teeth or Start Rheumatism

Calomel is mercury quicksilver. It crumbles into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your drugstore and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loosens your teeth; it straightens you right up and you feel great. So salivate necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.

Peek Printer Who And Spurns Diet Olympic Hope

Times have changed since the individual shaving mug and the Asot tie were in fashion.

For instance, it is no longer a positive crime to christen the young hopeful Clarence.

A Clarence no longer indicates a passion for pink sodas and croquet, and credit for lifting the unjustly maligned name to a position of dignity and respect belongs to a middle-aged Boston printer, by name Clarence De Mar.

It may be that Clarence De Mar likes his pink sodas and plays an occasional round of croquet, but also he happens to be America's greatest marathon runner as well as the country's chief reliance in the Olympic struggle.

You don't find many faint-hearted, weak-willed or poorly conditioned men going out for the marathon with its grueling distance of 26 miles 385 yards.

Frank of Olympic Team

De Mar is the most unique figure on the American team, unique in the sense that he is absolutely his own trainer and boss. De Mar has a style all his own. He runs with a vigorous leg swing, much after the fashion of a sprinter. At no time does he seem to be taking matters easy, which is the approved custom of the long distance runner.

De Mar is not on a training diet, as are the other Olympic performers. He eats what and when he pleases. Diets have never meant anything in the Boston man's life. He has been running for 15 years and has never had a stomach pain, a common ailment among marathoners.

Acting on the theory that you can't teach an old settler to use a finger, the Olympic coaches have turned De Mar loose to do as his fancy dictates. They realize they are running no big risk. As recent as last April De Mar set a new world's record for the marathon, winning the Boston run in 2 hours, 29 minutes, 40.1 seconds.

De Mar is slightly built, almost frail, and is a printer by trade. Also he is the troop master of the largest squad of 25 Scouts in Melrose, Mass., and the teacher of the same Sunday school class in the same neighboring Boston village.

ARIZONA CLAIMS GOLFING PHENOM

Future Bobby Joneses All Corralled

TUCSON, Arizona, July 1.—Where is the next Bobby Jones coming from? Arizona thinks it has the answer already roped and in the corral. In the recent southern state championship at Chandler, a score of golfers under voting age played in the 70's.

In the first flight alone were Bobby Goldwater of Phoenix, 13, with a card of 70; Emory P. Stratton of Boston, 19, with a 76; John D. Ames of Chicago, 18, with a 74; and John Lettmer of Chicago, 17, with an 80.

That one of these didn't finally win the championship was due solely to inexperience. But the likelihood of all of them being prominent nationally in golf in the near future is strong indeed.

Ames, son of the famous "Snake" Ames of Princeton, made a 74 in the qualifying round and then survived until the semi-finals where he lost to Dr. James Vance of El Paso, five times champion. Before losing, however, Ames had made a 70 in his second round. He goes to Princeton next year and certainly ought to be an intercollegiate champion before he reaches his junior year.

But perhaps the most promising youngster in the southwest is Col. Walter. This trail had been played under 80 for a year and has come within two strokes of par on many occasions. He is, oddly enough, under the tutelage of Willie Mann, who had much to do with Bobby Jones in Atlanta during the open champion's formative years before the war. Mann is a professional now at Phoenix, having come west five years ago for his health.

TUNNEY LIKES GOLF

Gene Tunney is another fighter who is strong for golf. The New York heavyweight includes golf as a daily feature in his training. "It helps physically and mentally," says Tunney. "Physically because it strengthens the legs, mentally because it gets the mind off fighting."

It's a Tough Life, Caddy Star Admits

Cleveland Lad Loses His Job, Gets Sick And Then Fails in Tourney

BY JOE WILLIAMS
Young Edward Hamman, graduate of Cleveland's large caddy army, is willing to testify that the way of the amateur, sans riches, is not a velvet-lined clench.

Young Edward happens to be a clerk in a large manufacturing plant, and clerks in large manufacturing plants are not supposed to be especially gifted in golf.

At least they are not supposed to take a week off from the inspiring business of manipulating an adding machine to mingle with the proud souls of country clubdom. This is a privilege reserved for the moderately wealthy and the leisure class.

So when Young Edward journeyed over to Columbus to worship at the shrine of St. Andrews he left behind a perfectly good position and an irate employer.

Now Scott, the course upon which the Ohio state championship was played, is a long, hard layout, not exactly suited to the physical frailty of a 20-year-old youth weighing slightly less than 130 pounds.

And to make matters worse, a hot energy-sapping sun beat down continuously on the players, but it was distinctly no spot for skinny fledglings.

Nevertheless, Young Edward got along fairly well, and when the end of the week rolled around he was a finalist.

True, he had lost 12 pounds, his pet driver had mysteriously disappeared from his bag and his job was gone, but here he was in the final, fighting for the state title.

Young Edward's opponent was Joe Dr. W. P. Melanson

TIMELY TIPS TO AMATEURS

SAYS S. COVELESKIE
Pitcher, Cleveland Indians

Keep out of the hole. Try to give the edge on the batter instead of giving him the advantage.

A pitcher is the possessor of control. He has a shackle on the batman.

Control is a pitcher's make up. It is his stuff in the proper manner. Makes it possible for him to mix up his style of pitching.

Some days I always try to get the first ball over. Opposing players, knowing I use a spitball almost exclusively, always look for it. A fast one occasionally crosses them up.

Such a system, however, would not work as a steady diet. The other teams would soon get wise to it.

I early discovered that a spitball pitcher, more than any other style, must have control to be successful. I worked hard to acquire it.

Every pitcher must have control to win. Every pitcher can get it, if he makes the proper effort.

MANDELL IS FASTEST

Two of the speediest lightweights in the game are Sid Terris of New York and Sammy Mandell of Chicago. Experts, however, are agreed that Mandell is the fastest fighter in the game.

Well, a polter of national note. For a while it seemed if Wells would be completely swamped. The Cleveland caddy was four up at the 10th hole when he collapsed under the broiling sun. Flamingly he stuck to his guns and at the end of the 18th was still in front.

When play stopped at noon his condition was so critical that a physician's attention was necessary. Against the advice of friends he persisted in resuming play and carried the fight on sheer nerve alone, to the 34th hole before going down to defeat.

It was a heart-breaking youngster that made his way back home, but his courageous stand will not soon be forgotten.

EVANS OPENS CLUB
Chick Evans will be a member of a foursome which will formally open a new golf club in Cleveland, July the Fourth.

GEN-LAX CURES AND KEEPS YOU WELL

The best thing about Gen-Lax is that it not only cures those ills you have, but it builds up the system so that other troubles cannot start. With every tablespoonful that you take, you are building up future health.

Read what R. E. Waters of Shreveport, writes: "My entire system was run down until I was hardly able to do a day's work. Rheumatism kept me out of shape, and I was badly constipated. I felt no-account and tired and run-down all the time and was getting weaker."

"I will say that I feel like I was a young man again since taking Gen-Lax. I have eaten three bottles and am full of energy. I am stronger and better in every way, and the old troubles that pulled me down have disappeared. Gen-Lax is the best medicine I have ever seen or heard of."

"My wife had liver and stomach trouble, and I gave her Gen-Lax and she has improved so you wouldn't know her. I can't say too much for Gen-Lax."

Gen-Lax can be taken safely by the youngest child in the family or the oldest grown-up. As a laxative, it clears the body of those impurities which are sure poisons—which pain the appetite, make the cheeks pale, take away all life and "pep."

MAINE STUDENT ANOTHER 'STRIB'

18-Year Boy Attends School And Supports Family

PORTLAND, Me., July 1.—Portland, Me., has its own Young Strubling in Jimmy "Kid" Rice, featherweight champion of Maine, a student at Portland high and, in addition, sole support of his family.

Rice has a mother, two sisters and a crippled father and through his boxing ability recently bought a two-family house in this city.

In addition to this Rice keeps up his studies at Portland high and expects to graduate from high school next year, following which he plans to enter college.

Rice is now under the management of Frankie DeLice, local boxing promoter, who started the fight game in Maine on his upward career.

DeLice noted Jimmie's possibilities and took him under his wing. Recently Rice went to New York for a month's training and made a great hit in Stillman's gym by knocking over Kid Williams, former bantam champion, in a practice session.

Rice is the only real high school boxer in the country today, for Strubling of Georgia has left school. Rice is only 18 years of age and his best ring asset is his ability to hit hard with either hand.

In the second game the Yankees were powered home by the curra of Eddie Bonnell, the Athletics' star pitcher. In the first contest Babe Ruth responded to the entreaties of the rooters with a home run. A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The Editorial Mind

However, comma—
Odds and Ends and Comments on Our Morning Mail

It's a wonder children ever accomplish anything when they grow up, considering how they have "Don't do that" and "Don't do this" dinned into them all through babyhood and early youth.

It's bad psychology on the part of parents this endless stream of "don't's." It leaves a lasting impression on the young developing mind—generates a tendency to draw back and hesitate whenever instinct prompts the child to take the initiative.

Take a baby, prying into everything. This isn't a spirit of mischief, as most people believe. Rather, it's a manifestation of the inquisitive instinct that prompts to investigation, discovery and progress.

The child approaches the unknown. He wants to learn. His brain craves knowledge of the thing that has attracted his eye. Just as he reaches for new knowledge, he is startled by "Tut, tut!" or "Mama spank!"

A child naturally cannot be allowed to pry into everything. Nor can he be permitted to tear the house down and wreck his furnishings to gratify his curiosity.

But when he exhibits interest in something that is never attracted him before, his lazy parent should join him and assist in the exploration.

Encourage him to "do" instead of curbing his every move with a "don't." "Do" makes a deed.

"Don't" plants the seed of timidity and laziness.

When a lad with a tool chest begins sawing up the furniture, it's usually because his father hasn't given him boards and suggested that he try to build something.

Children are extremely susceptible to suggestion. "You had better"—a phrase spoken to a child—implants in him a belief that he really is bad. Later he decides that he might as well have the game as the name.

A great many children can be made good simply by drumming into them the conjuring statement that they are good.

Children have a highly developed instinct for believing what they are told. This confidence can be capitalized.

Prices are dropping in nearly every important country except Germany and other places where money has been issued in such vast amounts that a rise in its buying power is impossible.

Wholesale prices, for instance, have been slipping in America. In England they are falling at a rate of 25 per cent a year and now average only 75 per cent higher than in 1914, compared with 226 per cent in 1920. It's a world movement—downward.

How far?

A small loop radio set receives no little actual energy while it's being used, that, in 30 years of continuous operation, it would barely equal the energy used by a fly in climbing an inch up a wall, to say a General Electric research man.

This is about the last word in getting a lot out of a minute bit of power. Future man will work similar marvels with other forms of power, especially fuel. We use only a small fraction of the energy stored in coal. The bulk of it goes up the chimney.

Cheap sugar for housewives this coming canning season, predicts Federal Sugar Refining Co. It says the day of high-priced sugar is over unless there is another world war. You recall how high sugar was a few years ago. You wonder if prices of other commodities will also bog down. Nothing impossible—especially prices.

Unfashionable to have thin ankles, announces Paul Poiret, the French fashion dictator. He says the ideal feminine ankle measures four inches around. To be in the swim, smaller ankles must be padded.

This is one style that will get to Paul's front door and no farther. The thin ankle is a womanly ideal because, like small ears and dainty fingers, it's supposed to indicate fine breeding.

The Ku Klux Klan gained nearly half a million in membership during its 1923 fiscal year. The Klan is entrenched in 45 states.

We are approaching the first presidential election in which the Klan is apt to function on a national scale. It is the premier "Great I know Factor" in politics. And it may have more influence on the election than any third party movement.

America's population is growing at the rate of one and three-quarter millions a year. That has been the rate of increase since the 1920 census. We are close to a total of 114 millions now. It helps the farmer, more mouths to feed. His main problem has been overproduction of food.

In 30 years, at the present rate of increase, we'll be 200 millions strong. If all immigration here were down, we'd have the 200 millions as far as steamships could bring them. China could send that many and not miss them.

Napoleon's early ambition was to be a writer. Short stories in his handwriting are pronounced authentic by experts.

Later he chose the sword instead of the pen. And his career proves that the pen is not always mightier than the sword. It is, in peace. But in war, the pen is not much stronger than the sword itself. And it should not be so long as patriotism is substituted into a form of insanity.

FARMER THAW TO TRY TO LIVE DOWN THE PAST

Harry Thaw plans to become a farmer and fruit grower in Virginia. He has become the owner of one of the largest estates in Frederick county and will embark in farming and fruit growing on a large scale. He has two million dollars of his own to spend in experimental work and his mother has a fortune of twenty millions.

Just eighteen years ago he shot and killed Stanford White, the famous architect on the roof garden of the famous Madison Square building. Martin W. Littleton, a former Texan, made it clear to a jury that Thaw was insane. After seven years confinement, a judge convinced himself at least that Thaw is not only sane but competent to handle his own fortune.

George L. Rickard, known to the sporting world as Tex Rickard, is a former Texan. He began his very exciting career as a cowboy in Clay county, Texas. Now he is the manager of Madison Square Garden and he is going to build a five million dollar auditorium on Manhattan Island for sporting events, including pugilistic battles and political conventions. Governor William E. Sweet of Colorado won national fame on the third day of the democratic convention when one of his fellow delegates smashed his jaw and knocked him down. In a contest over the possession of the standard of the Colorado delegation.

Governor Sweet came back. He refused to take the count. He smashed his fellow delegate and then he made a smashing speech in seconding the nomination of William Gibbs McAdoo. Democrats are just naturally fighters. They can not keep the peace, at least in the early days of a convention when they are full of pep and punch and their pocketbooks are fat and their pugnacity on exhibition. Republican conventions are different.

Take the Cleveland convention. Ambassador Charles W. Warren came all the way from Mexico City via Washington to the Cleveland convention with the republican platform in his pocket. There was no row over it; the committee on platform accepted it and the convention gave it the stamp of approval. This last act was merely a perfunctory performance.

Republican delegates obey orders. Democratic delegates decline to take orders until their hotel bills reach the high peak, their enthusiasm has spent itself and they are ready to go home to mother. Then the leaders name the ticket and the followers of Jefferson and Jackson and Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson are ready to put on their war paint and demand that the republican rascals shall be turned out.

Cleveland turned them out. Woodrow Wilson turned them out. That is, Cleveland and Wilson turned out fat republicans and gave the jobs to lean democrats. Now who is going to cut the melon this year? Will it be the Democratic David or the Republican Goliath?

Republicans are longing for four more years in the clover patch. Democrats are lean and hungry and hope to be able with the aid of Senator La Follette to break down the barriers and run the fat rascals out of the patch.

GASTON B. MEANS

Gaston B. Means is on trial in the federal court in New York on charges of conspiracy to violate the prohibition act. Gaston threatens to take the stand and divulge secrets that will destroy the Coolidge administration, the Mellon fortune, the republican party and perhaps pave the way for the coming millennium. After all the investigations of the year the people demand a goat and Gaston would be the fattest goat in stripes that a federal penitentiary has known for some years. He has been indicted oftener than any American now out of jail and luck always attends his trial.

North Carolina is proud of many of its favorite sons, but back in the mountains of that state the natives never crow because Gaston first saw the light in the land of tar and turpentine.

He is as wise as a fox, as cunning as the lynx, as slippery as an eel and has won more publicity in his time than Dr. Cook or the Siamese twins.

HITTING THE PIPE

Figures for the first four months of this year concerning cigarettes in the United States show production total 21,708,882,186 against 19,733,030,379, in the same period last year. Are American women smokers of cigarettes? Well, some of them are. Figures never lie.

At any rate the old-time robber didn't say he was going to serve the people.

It's a matter of poor distribution. The poor immigrant who comes over doesn't get enough to eat, and the celebrity gets too darned much.

The hard part about reading a man out of the party is to define the party limits.

Some very rich men retire to run newspapers, and some dispose of it in other ways.

Enforcing law obedience is not made difficult by general cowardism but by general spathy.

The Bad Man
By John C. Higgins
A vaquero came riding down.
On the trail from San de Fresno.
As a bad man as ever had.
A horse between his knees.
Two 45's adorned his belt.
A knife reposed serene
A rifle in his sheath was held—
He was the worst man ever seen.

To a desert town he came.
As he rode along the trail.
He stopped before the old saloon.
Across from the little jail.
With scowling grin he drew his guns.
And shot all over the place.
And broke the glasses into bits.
While each man bit his face.

Aloud he called for the bartender.
To come and serve his want.
The man arose in blank despair.
And his face was pale and gaunt.
Hard on the bar the bad man rapped.
And said in his snarly drone:
"Now just rub yuh up fer me
A large size ice-cream cone."

Betty Sets the Stage
"Mother," said Betty, "do you know what I'm going to buy you for your next birthday?"
"No, dear," answered her mother.
"Well," said the little tot, "I'm going to buy you a nice big hand-painted vase."
"My dear, I have one," said her mother. "I wouldn't want two of them."
"No, you haven't, mother," said Betty emphatically, but with downcast eyes. "I just broke it."

Our Own Horoscope Department
If you were born on July 1, your constellation is Dynamo, the sign of the Live Wire.
Which means that you are right there with the personal magnetism and the 100 h. p. energy.
Dynamo people rarely make good farmers, because they never let any grass grow under their feet. But in almost any other profession they succeed brilliantly, especially in a pressing establishment, always having a lot of irons in the fire.
They are usually exceptionally healthy, but are apt to suffer from fatty degeneration of the figure after reaching forty. For this reason, they should avoid the Second Helping and take more exercise.

The Memory That Failed
Miss Peggy Warren, traveling in California, to her fiancé, Mr. John Hughes, of Atlanta, Ga.
Mr. Darling:
I must write this little note before I go to bed. It is almost morning, and here I've been sitting all night reading Kipling.
I don't care for him, as you know, but ever since that wonderful night last summer when you told me the story of "The Light That Failed," I have intended reading it. I wanted to know whether it was you or Kipling that had made it of it a vital memory.

Dearest, it was you. As I read, there came back to me the soft, summer night, the odor of the cinnamon vine and you, your dear self with your deep tender voice. Don't you remember that when you finished the story I kissed you and wanted to cry? Tonight when I laid down to sleep I cried, and wanted to kiss you.

Your Money AT WORK

Brief but important lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

Most men believe they work for money. They measure their life in terms of the money it pays them.

That money is spent for food, clothing, shelter or luxuries. In the last analysis they are working for goods, not money.

Real wages are not amount of money a man finds in a pay envelope. They are what he can buy with that money.

A Snappy Tale

He lifted her into his arms and crushed her madly to his breast. Raining passionate kisses on her upturned face, he whispered feverishly: "Darling, I love you."

Just then his wife appeared on the scene.

"Henry, put her down at once—your wife is here!" she exclaimed angrily.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

"That suits me exactly," said a solemn voice.

"Come on," cried Johnny Jump Up, the merry little garden fairy. "Aren't you ready yet?"

"We'll be there in a minute," said Nancy. "Where are we going to-night, Johnny?"

"I don't think we'll go any place unless we can find the timonose," said Johnny. "He seems to have disappeared altogether. That's why I want you Twins to hurry—so we can hunt him."

The Twins put on the little shoes that Johnny Jump Up gave them and instantly they became as small as people's corns, if you know how small that is.

Then down they slid to the magic garden.

"Tommy, oh Tommy Timonose, where are you?" they called.

All the little violet fairies hunted, and the little Dutchman in the tulip hunted, and the little Scotchman in the blue bells hunted, and the little French fairy in the pansies hunted, and the cowboy fairy and the tiny Tuck hunted and everybody hunted. But not one had seen Tommy. Not even the big black beetle knew where he was.

"We can't go on a journey to-night," said Johnny Jump Up. "We'll have to give it up."

"That suits me exactly," said a solemn voice. "How I'll have a chance to give my lecture."

And looking where the voice came from, everybody was surprised to see Jack-in-the-Pulpit standing under his cap and looking as solemn as a preacher.

"Sit down, everybody," said Jack. So Nancy and Nick and Johnny Jump Up and all the other garden fairies sat down on the ground and listened.

"My lecture is on the moon," said Jack.

"The moon is round except when it isn't. Sometimes it's just a slice. Sometimes it's rightside up and sometimes it's wrong down up and sometimes it's standing on end."

"The moon shines only at night," when on Jack.

"No it doesn't always," said Nick. "I've often seen it in the day time. If you look hard you can see it right in the blue sky."

"But it doesn't shine. It just shows," said Jack-in-the-Pulpit. "There is a big difference. As I said before—the moon shines only at night. The man in the moon is bald-headed and fat and jolly and—"

"Oh say," said Johnny Jump Up. "Did you hear the verse I made up about him?"

"No," said Jack-in-the-Pulpit stiffly.

"This was it," said Johnny. And he recited:

"The man in the moon is so short
and so fat,
He can't bend over this way or stoop
over that.
He has not seen his feet since the Fourth of July,
But he says that's his shape and there's no use to try."

"The lecture is over for tonight," said Jack-in-the-Pulpit.

Just then there was a loud snore and there was Tommy Timonose with his heavy eyelids fast asleep.

"Better wake up Tommy, a ewill get you," said Nick.

MORE ABOUT THE PILGRIMS

An old English poem shows that a man could leave home to go to a shrine no matter whether his wife wanted him to or not. Women, on the other hand, had to get the con-

you an idea of the staff. Two kinds are to be seen. One is only a simple walking stick. Other staffs had knobs making them easier to swing as a weapon.

One of the pilgrims pictured had no staff. Instead he holds a bit of palm. This was a sign that he had been to the Holy Land. Only pilgrims who had been there were allowed to carry the palm with them. Some times they were it down in their hands.

As soon as a person made a vow to go to the Holy Land, he sewed two strips of cloth on his outer garment making the form of a cross. English pilgrims usually wore white robes. French pilgrims wore red and some-

The girl who hung by her teeth went out of the ring, while someone clowns did flip-flops. When she came back she was a lady bareback rider. She hopped up on her pony's back and even managed to stand up for almost a second, while the puma trotted around the ring. She couldn't do any other stunts, but the audience was satisfied, because she looked so pretty, dressed up like a regular bareback rider in the circus.

Lamp Insurance

Running a wire from a ceiling fixture to a floor or table lamp is likely to do two things. It may give an untidy appearance to the room that should be the most attractive in the home. It is usually in the way, and likely to result in breaking the lamp. Convenience outlets will eliminate both of these troubles.

"Why You Need An Abstract"

Texas laws provide that instruments affecting real estate, recorded in the County Clerk's office, are a Notice to every person. That is why Abstracts from the County Records, made by experienced searchers, are needed with every transaction affecting real estate—so that the purchaser can actually learn what the Law presumes he has notice of.

HELP FOR THE MAN WHO WANTS TO BUILD

DIGNITY AND CHARM IN THIS SIX-ROOM HOME

Copyright, 1924—Architects' Small House Service Bureau.

Plan No. 6434

This attractive six-room home embodies all the features that make a modern home convenient and comfortable. It has a dignity that makes it admired even among larger and more expensive houses. It is ideally suited to a city or suburban location, even to an inside lot and likewise it will make an admirable home in a country setting.

There is a bit of real, old-fashioned charm about the porch, due probably to its colonial character. The porch is roomy and comfortable, measuring 7 feet 9 inches by 10 feet 6 inches. The porch protects the entrance so well that a vestibule really is not needed.

The house offers six good rooms, bath, full basement. It is designed to be built of frame construction, with siding exterior, stucco panel in the front wall of the second story, shingle roof, brick chimney, brick base course. If desired the roof can be raised to omit the dormers, making it a full two story house. The exterior can also be stuccoed as shown in the house illustrated here.

The house can be placed on a lot 40 feet wide—a little less if necessary, and should prove to be reasonable to build.

The cost to build this house, including heating-plumbing, lighting, painting, ready to live in, but not including wall decorations, should range between $6,200 and $7,500. In certain localities where costs are high, the highest figure quoted would be too low. In other localities, the lowest figure quoted would be more than sufficient. The range of $1,000 is given to cover differences in the way the house is built and how thoroughly it is equipped and completed.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The plans for small homes are furnished by the Regional Bureau of the Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., an organization made up of the representative practicing architects from leading credit national offices throughout the United States. This bureau is controlled by the American Institute of Architects, and has the endorsement of the Department of Commerce, United States government. It is practically a non-profit making public service, and has as its purpose the furnishing of a very complete and dependable small house plan service at modest cost. For information regarding the blue prints and specifications, address the Home Building Editor of this paper. The United States Bureau maintains an Information Department to answer home builders' questions at no charge. Enclose stamped addressed envelope.

WHAT YOU MAY WANT TO KNOW ABOUT BUILDING

Questions addressed to the paper will be answered by the Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., controlled by the American Institute of Architects and located by the department of commerce, United States government. Enclose stamped addressed envelope for reply.

Q—We are thinking of building as our present home is too small. We have in cash about $1,000, and about $2,000 equity in the place where we now live. Which would be better to put up a single family house of six rooms or to build a two family house with five rooms on each side?

A—From the point of view of financing, you are probably in a better position to build a single family house costing about $1,000. The amount of money necessary to borrow on this house would probably be about $4,000. You should obtain this on a first mortgage at terms favorable to you. If you built a two family house you would have to borrow at least twice as much money.

We have a good corner lot facing lake, 1800 block Fifteenth street. We will build you a home with small amount of cash. Balance easy terms.

New, 5-room, modern home, 1800 block Sixteenth street, small amount of cash or 1st and 2nd lien note. Balance like rent.

We have an attractive home upper Twelfth street. Will take good car as first payment.

One of the best homes in town, 2800 block Twelfth street. Has everything—$3650.00, $650.00 cash, balance terms.
